Rain, Sleet, Hail, Snow, Tornadoes, Lightning, Hot, Cold Waves Lash Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Violent weather, wintry and unseasonal, hammered wide sections of the nation today.

Not much letup appeared immediately from the snowy, rainy, windy and cold weather.

A rash of storms erupted Tuesday in parts of the Southwest, West, South and Midwest. They headed into the Northeast, along the Atlantic seaboard and into the southern Gulf region.

At least 11 deaths were attributed to the stormy weather.

The weather, varied for the winter season but generally quite miserable, was in the form of rain, sleet, hail, snow, thunderstorms, tornadoes, dust storms, lightning and cold and hot.

Str Dust Storms

About the only areas with clear skies were in Florida and in parts of the Southwest.

Tornado winds lashed areas in Texas and Oklahoma, stirring up dust storms. Violent winds pounded sections of Arkansas, Missouri and Illinois, hit by thunderstorms. They were strong in Midwest sleet and rain. Property damage in the storm-battered areas mounted into the hundreds of dollars.

The deaths attributed to the stormy elements included 5 in California, 3 in Texas, 1 each in New Mexico, Oklahoma, and Pacific pounded coastal areas of northern California and Oregon, forcing more families from their homes. The worlds largest wine tanker, the seven million-dollar Angelo Petri, was adrift off San Francisco's Golden Gate.

Snow blanketed the Midwest. Gusts piled up huge drifts across the prairie lands and in the towns and cities from the Dakotas into southern Lower Michigan. Many secondary roads were closed. So were some main highways. Scores of motorists were stranded.

Four to six inches of fresh snow fell from central South Dakota across most of eastern Nebraska and southern Iowa. Heavy snow warnings were posted from eastern Iowa across northwest and extreme northern Illinois, east-northeast into southern Lower Michigan.

Rice Says Democratic Ticket "Not Certain"

By LEONARD A. UNGER

HARRISBURG (AP)—Top level party leaders were ready to present a slate of three statewide candidates for party endorsement by the 70-member Democratic Policy Committee today.

A high party source, who asked not to be identified, said the recommendations for organization candidates in the April 26 primary likely would be:

For auditor general—Thomas Z. Minehart, Fort Washington attorney, whose name was advanced by the Montgomery County Democratic organization.

For state treasurer—Mrs. Grace M. Sloan, Clarion, president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Democratic Women's Clubs, who already has been endorsed by the 19 woman members of the policy committee.

For judge of State Superior Court—Judge Gerald F. Flood of Philadelphia, backed by U. S. Rep. William J. Green, Philadelphia Democratic city chairman.

But John S. Rice, commonwealth secretary and Democratic state chairman, said in an interview that there was "nothing certain" about the ticket.

Gov. Lawrence told his news conference Tuesday that he has not committed himself to anyone but said he would be happy to support Mrs. Sloan if the remainder of the Policy Committee did so.

He said he was aware of the aspirations of Sen. Fred B. Rooney (D-Northampton) to run for state treasurer. In a recent talk with Rooney, the governor said, the freshman senator was neither encouraged or discouraged to run.

EJECT WOMAN FROM JUDGE'S COURT BENCH

Things got off the beaten path for a brief time in Adams County court Tuesday afternoon but after the wheels of justice took a few erratic spins court procedure settled down to regular routine.

After the trial of Clayton Baker, Gettysburg R. 5, had been recessed until this morning when the court's charge was to be delivered, President Judge W. C. Sheely and Associate Judge Earl Guse were surprised to find a woman standing in back of them on the bench and bending forward for an opportunity "to say a few words" to the judge.

She was hustled out of the "forbidden area" by Sheriff Dawson Miller who was called into action by Judge Sheely.

Later, the woman identified herself to a Times reporter as Mrs. Annie Houssell, sister of Clayton Baker. She said she "just wanted to tell the judge my brother was telling the truth" when he said he was home in bed and not out cutting a neighbor's fence in the moonlight as he was accused of doing.

Found Not Guilty

The jury this morning, after deliberating less than an hour, found Baker not guilty of malicious mischief, but ordered him to pay half the costs of the case. The other half is to be paid by the prosecutor, Robert M. Eyster, also of R. 5.

The next case called for trial was the assault and battery count against William Metz, Waynesboro, who had no attorney and declined the court's offer to appoint counsel for him. He served as his own attorney and was assisted in the selection of the jury by District Attorney Daniel E. Teeler. Metz challenged only one juror as did Mr. Teeler.

The case involves an alleged assault on James McDannell, Hamiltonban Twp., on January 9 in which James, aged 15, lost a tooth and witnesses said Metz, himself, lost two teeth off a partial plate in a scuffle with the boy. One witness said Metz hit the boy, son of the prosecutrix, Pauline McDannell, "about 10 times." The alleged assault took place at the home of Lewis Metz, father of the defendant. Trial of the cases continued through the morning.

Baker Case Jury

The Baker case was heard by this jury: Ralph Myers, East Berlin R. 2, Wilda Sheaffer, Biglerville R. 1, Daniel Paddock, Gettysburg R. 2, Glenn Tipton, Gettysburg R. 2, Gladys Musselman, Orontiana R. D., Maurice Fitzgerald, Littlestown R. 2, Sarah Staub, Biglerville R. 1, James Stairy, York Springs; Emory Fox, Gettysburg R. 1; Geraldine Trump, Gardners R. 1, Mrs. Elizabeth Kernan, McSherrystown, and Fred Klosterman, Gettysburg R. 2.

The Metz jury includes: Renae Havenstick, Littlestown; Ruth Diehl, Orontiana R. 1; William Eisenhart, East Berlin R. D.; Kenneth Williams Sr., Biglerville R. 2, Flossie Pyles, Aspers, Harry Mumper, York Springs, Alma Patnell, 435 Carlisle St.; Marian Bille, East Berlin; Richard Weaver, Gettysburg R. 5, Roy Reedy, Gettysburg R. 4, and Mae Millhimes, New Oxford R. 2.

Tuesday there were groups there from Bernudian Springs and Gettysburg and today's visitors were from Biglerville and Gettysburg High Schools. They are taken on tours of the courthouse offices by members of the county bar and then go into court to witness a trial. Each group is addressed briefly by Judge Sheely on the operation of court trials the jury system and the opportunity that is theirs to see "democracy in action."

MAITLANDS MAKE CLAIM

John E. Maitland, trading as Maitland Brothers, Littlestown, in an answer to the assumpsit action brought against him by Joseph Pucci and Kenneth Keller, trading as Apex Paving Co., New Cumberland, over rental of a backhoe, today claims that not only does he not owe Apex money for the rental, as they claim, but that they owe him $4,761.64 for breaking their rental agreement in taking back the backhoe. Apex had listed rental of the backhoe over a period of time and held that Maitland still owed them about $10,000 of an $18,000 rental bill. In his answer, Maitland lists as exhibits various agreements to rent signed by him and Apex, which show payments of rental up to and beyond the dates listed in the rental contracts. He also lists checks showing payments. In his answer, Maitland, according to the papers filed for him by Attorney Donald M. Swope, claims that the last rental agreement was made September 23, 1958, showing payment of rental up to November 30, 1958. He includes that agreement as one of his exhibits. Maitland also claims that when Apex took back the backhoe without his knowledge they immediately owed him approximately $2,000, representing the rental already paid from that date up to November 30, plus $2,561.60 for loss of time on that and other jobs that had to be held up until a new backhoe was secured and arrangements made to complete the work which had been scheduled for the original backhoe removed by Apex.

BIGLER WILTS IN LAST HALF TO LOSE 67-46

Biglerville High gave Chambersburg surprisingly stiff opposition throughout the first half before wilting in the last two periods to bow 67-46 Tuesday evening on the Cannons' floor.

Coach Bernie Thrush's outfit trailed only 26-23 at half time but Chambersburg outscored the Cannons 18-6 in the third quarter and went on to a convincing triumph.

The victory was the seventh straight in South Penn competition for Chambersburg which was unbeaten in the first half.

Gary Breighner of Biglerville was the high point man of the game with 20 tallies and Jack Frantz added 13. Four Trojan cagers hit double figures with Jim Slichter pacing the group with 16.

The Chambersburg reserves took the preliminary 56-23.

KEY DECISION AGAINST BOWL BY ILLINOIS

CHICAGO (AP)—Chances of another Rose Bowl tieup involving the Big Ten appear dead following Illinois' vote against a new contract.

Illinois' decision Monday night was believed the decisive one, killing all chances of renewing the New Year's Day football series. Five schools are for renewal and five against. A majority vote is needed for approval.

Illinois, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Ohio State have announced their stand against the postseason game. Northwestern has not decided but voted against in the past and is expected to again.

Hopes for continuing the series were revived last month when the Big Ten decided to take another vote.

Formal Vote In March
This followed last spring's vote when possible renewal of the series was killed in a 5-5 deadlock.

But with the founding of the Athletic Assn. of Western Universities to replace the Pacific Coast Conference, a new invitation was extended to the Big Ten to continue playing in the Rose Bowl.

The Big Ten then took the current vote.

Michigan State, Michigan, Purdue, Indiana and Iowa favor continuing the series. However, there are indications Iowa will swing against if another vote is taken at the school.

The formal vote will come up at the Big Ten meetings March 15.

ATHLETES EYE WEATHER FOR VIII OLYMPIC

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP)—An international field of athletes from 25 nations looked hopefully today for clearing weather and the chance for some final hard winter Olympic Games training.

Just eight days remain before the Feb. 18 opening ceremony, and the rain and snowstorms the past three days in this High Sierra valley have drastically curtailed practice.

Exceptions are the figure skaters who work inside the 3½-million-dollar ice arena.

Although 25 nations have checked into the Olympic village not all teams are complete and seven are yet to be represented.

Despite the storm and the flood threat of Monday, the $20,000,000 site of the Olympics was returning to normal.

However, skiing was permitted only on Papoose Peak, the games' site of the ladies' slalom and the ladies' giant slalom.

KT22, scene of the men's giant slalom and women's downhill, and Squaw Peak where the men's downhill is scheduled, remained closed.

"We can have them ready two days after the storm clears," said Willy Schaeffer, director of ski events.

Predictions were for a let-up in the storm today with 35 inches of new snow in this 2½-mile valley.

Adams-Franklin League

A hustling Greencastle basketball squad jolted Littlestown 62-54 at Littlestown Tuesday evening to snap the longest winning streak in Thunderbolt history. The Bolts had won 11 straight in the Adams-Franklin League plus a nonleague affair.

Jack Bream's Bolts took command in the first period and led throughout as the frame ended 20-17. The Blue Devils caught up at 20-20 in the first few seconds of the second quarter and the score was tied eight more times during the game.

Littlestown held its last lead at 50-49 after 3:00 of the final period but then Greencastle pulled steadily away.

Greencastle turned in a 38 percentage in field goal tossing as compared to 33 for the Bolts. In rebounding Littlestown was again on top 39-19.

Bob Benner poured through 28 points for the losers with Larry Weikert chipping in with 15. Johnston sparked the Blue Devils with 27.

New Oxford, second-place team in the Adams Division, picked up a full game on Littlestown by spurring in the final quarter to take a 59-50 contest from invading Bermudian. Going into the last period the Colonials held a narrow 39-36 advantage.

Home Hafer led the well-rounded New Oxford attack with 18 points. Craig Hoke sank 20 for Bermudian.

Field led all the way in crushing St. Thomas 73-50 at Fairfield, a 30-point fourth quarter erasing all doubt as to the ultimate outcome.

Jimmy Ruth, Joe McCauslin and Randy Inskip tabbed 25, 18 and 14 points for the victors. Yeager tossed in 18 for the Saints.

Scotland trimmed James Buchanan 69-57 while Fannett-Metal trimmed Quincy 72-43 in Franklin County games.

Gang Of Negro Teenagers Shoot Vice-Pres. Of NCCJ

CHICAGO (AP) — The Rev. Leo K. Bishop, 48, vice president of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, was shot and seriously wounded Monday night when he and his wife resisted robbery attempts by a gang of teenage robbers.

He was shot once in the groin and a second bullet grazed the back. His condition at Illinois Central Hospital was reported fair this morning after four hours surgery during which the bullet was removed.

Terrorized Districts
Police said a gang of five boys and two girls, all Negroes, had terrorized three South Side districts in a series of holdups and robbery attempts. At least two of the boys, police said, carried rifles.

Police said they believed the same gang also fired at an electrical engineer as he fled them and later robbed a doctor and his wife of $15.

The Rev. Mr. Bishop and his wife, Pauline, 47, were returning to their home in the South Shore district when a car carrying seven teenagers drove up alongside.

Mrs. Bishop told police two of the boys got out of the car, walked past her and her husband. Then, she said, they came up from behind and one stuck a rifle in the minister's back.

Mrs. Bishop told police she grabbed the rifle and pushed it away, but a third boy got out of the car and shook her free of the rifle. The boy with the rifle then fired, wounding her husband.

GRID LOOPS WILL NOT RAID

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It's not in writing but the commissioner of the National Football League says he and the head of the new American Football League have agreed their clubs won't stage talent raids on each other.

NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle disclosed Monday that he met over the weekend with AFL Commissioner Joe Foss.

"We agreed there should be no tampering with players in the two leagues," Rozelle said.

"No Tampering"
"He (Foss) said his policy as commissioner would be to foster a policy in the AFL of no tampering with National League players—a policy I told him we would respect."

Rozelle said he and Foss did not discuss NFL expansion, a move some contend is designed to wreck the new league.

"The question of NFL expansion just never came up," Rozelle said.

He said he met Foss by prearrangement at St. Louis Airport last Saturday and talked several hours.

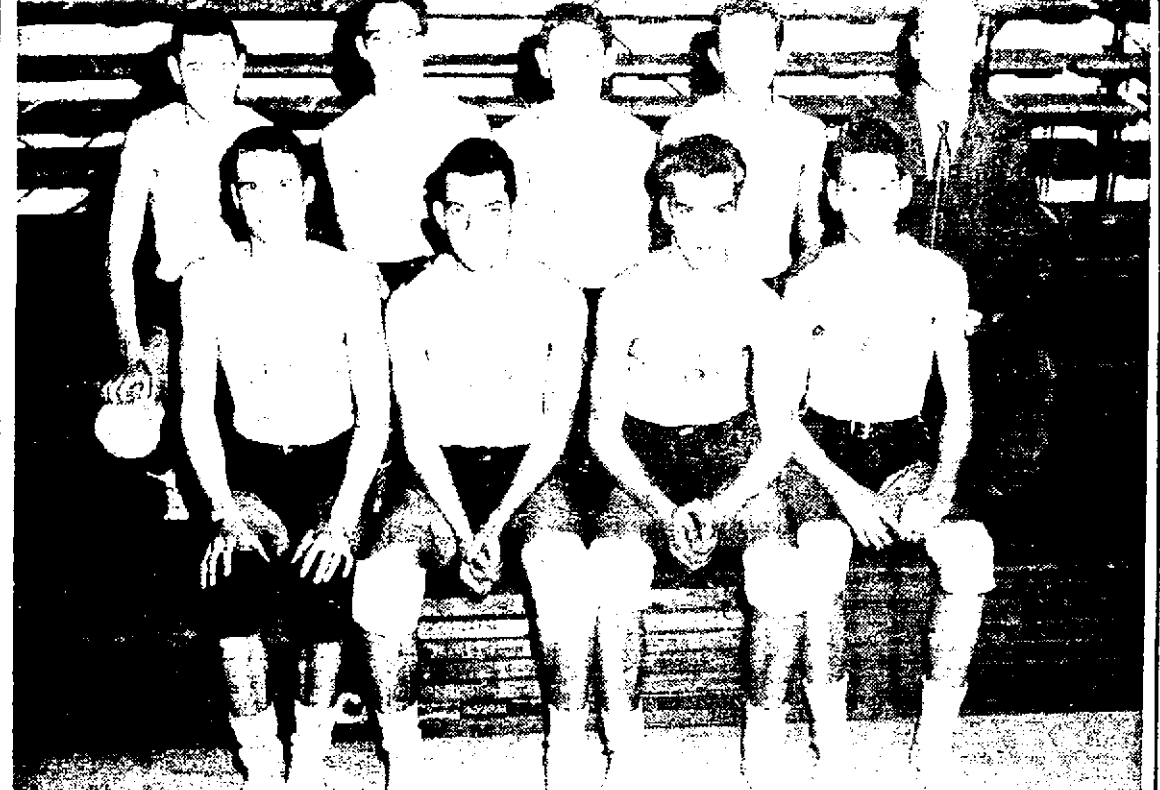

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Mattie M. Fransen, 80, of Amherst, Mass., wife of Prof. J. H. Fransen, eminent head of the Dairy Industry Department at the University of Massachusetts, died Tuesday. She had collaborated with her husband in the editing and publication of books about the industry.

700,000 BOY SCOUTS ATTEND SUMMER CAMP

A new record was achieved in 1959 when a higher percentage of Scouts went camping, with about 700,000 boys attending, many of them with their own unit leaders.

Scouting is essentially an outdoor program and since the Boy Scouts of America was established in 1910, more and more Scouts and Explorers have been enjoying camping experiences of ten days or more, year by year.

A Scout learns to take care of himself in the woods. He learns how to choose a camp site, make a camp bed, cook his meals over an open fire, and enjoy himself in the out-of-doors.

YOUTH DAY COMING

HARRISBURG (AP) — May 1 will be Youth Day in Pennsylvania.

EMERGENCY LANDING

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP) — A United Airlines Convair plane with 26 persons aboard made an emergency landing without incident Monday night at the Allentown-Bethlehem-Easton Airport.

The plane, bound from Newark, N. J., to Cleveland, Ohio, landed here after the captain had reported engine trouble. Airport emergency crews were not needed.

Another aircraft took the passengers on to Cleveland.

STAMP TROUBLES

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — One free government service has been stopped here.

Postmaster Jim Harding said Monday a faulty vending machine in the post office lobby was returning the purchaser's change in addition to giving the correct amount of postage stamps.

ALGIERS (AP) — Police accompanied by hooded witnesses questioned suspects in several sections of Algiers Tuesday as they sought more persons responsible for the abortive Jan. 24 uprising of right-wing French settlers.

The witnesses hid their identity to avoid reprisals.

Sixteen persons, including a number of prominent Algiers residents, already have been charged with attacks against the state.

TAIPEI, FORMOSA (AP) —

The post office here began taking orders for live lobster at the equivalent of 35 cents a pound. The money will be refunded if the lobster is dead on arrival. The lobsters will come by boat and plane from 30 miles off the southeast coast of Formosa.

In camp a boy learns the true meaning of democracy when he lives and shares with other Scouts the responsibilities of a camp community.

BOYLE VIEWS WHYS, WOES OF TEACHERS

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that teachers get tired of hearing—or overhearing:
“Those that can, do; those that can't, teach.”
“What are you teachers always crabbng about? After all, you get the whole summer off.”
“She looks like a teacher.”
“I hear the reason she never married was she had an unhappy love affair.”

Obvious Mistake
“Sure! you must be mistaken. My son wouldn't have said a thing like that to anyone—even a teacher.”
“The job pays $3,500, and, of course, you'll coach the dramatics club, chaperone the Friday night dances, take tickets at the football games and—”
“What does she know about children? She doesn't have any of her own.”

“Naturally, your private life is your own, Miss Blatz, but this is a small town and we've never had a woman teacher who smoked in public.”

No Future
“Frankly, the opportunity for advancement is limited, but you'll have the satisfaction of molding young minds.”
“Keep me after class if you want to. But you better know one thing—my uncle's on the school board.”

“Now, what is all this nonsense my wife tells me about you thinking my son ought to spend another year in the first grade?”

“Obviously, he's college material—if you just do your job right.”

“Oh, Miss Blatz wouldn't care for a cocktail. Get her a nice glass of fruit punch.”

Deemed Strange
“I don't understand it. Herbert never had any trouble with any other teachers.”

“Maybe you did say we were going to have a test today, but I couldn't hear you in the back row.”

“It's all the board can afford to pay you, Miss Blatz, but we

Uses U. S. Mail In Revengeful Scheme

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — Postal inspectors have charged a 32-year-old Chattanooga with a revengeful mail order scheme in which such things as 1,500 pounds of cheese and a reducing machine were ordered in the names of other people.

Erol A. Curtcher was arraigned Tuesday on a charge of using the mails to defraud.

A U.S. attorney said the harassment campaign of more than a year centered on officials of an insurance agency which had refused Curtcher a job.

MURDER TRIAL STARTS TODAY

BOSTON (AP) — A handsome Dutch radio operator goes on trial for his life today charged with killing an alleged shipboard paramour.

Willem Van Rie, 31, of Utrecht, the Netherlands, has been in jail since last September in the death of Lynn Kauffman, 23, a pretty divorcee from Chicago.

Conviction could mean death in the electric chair, but Van Rie insists a jury will free him. His wife, Nella, 31, agrees. “We will be home by tulip time,” she vows.

Miss Kauffman's nearly nude, battered body was found on the shore of a Boston harbor island last September, the day after Van Rie's ship, the Dutch freighter Utrecht, left Boston for New York.

The state charges that she and Van Rie engaged in a 44-day shipboard romance that began in Singapore and ended with her death. Van Rie says there was no affair.

don't feel it looks right for you to be working extra as a cashier in the dime store on Saturdays.”

“It must be a real satisfaction to have a sense of dedication—and not be worrying all the time about material things.”

“Ask her for a date if you want to, Joe. But if you don't behave she'll probably make you stand in the corner, like she does the kids.”

“What in the world do you teachers do with all your spare time?”

CRITIC LAUDS PLAYHOUSE 90 SHOW TUESDAY

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP-TV Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Playhouse 90 embarked Tuesday night on its new phase as a nomadic special in the CBS channels. We'll miss it in its own regular niche, for the 90-minute show remains one of television's enduring delights.

“To the Sound of Trumpets” was Tuesday night's play and while it probably won't win any awards, it provided an entertaining three acts. Stephen Boyd and Dolores Hart played a pair of star-crossed lovers who, after meeting somewhere between the front lines and Paris during World War I, struggled with their respective consciences.

He is a British captain, so sickened by slaughter that he is deserting. She is an American volunteer nurse's aide, fleeing her hospital to spend a leave with her husband. Conscience, of course, wins in the end. But the moral was incidental to the love story.

Lots Of Bands, Songs
NBC's Startime consisted of a lot of bands playing the songs they made popular during the late 1930s. It was just fine for those who like to watch musicians play.

There were such old favorites on view as Bob Crosby, Count Basie, Guy Lombardo and Gene Krupa. There were also a lot of gray or bald heads and frankly middle-aged gentlemen in the bandstands, a sharp reminder that we are not as young—or slim—as we once were.

Just Under The Limit
Everyone seems to complain about the constant commercials on the Jack Paar show, and finally somebody has done something about them. A trade magazine assigned a monitoring service to report on the commercials one night—Jan. 14—on four of Paar's 146-

Big Alligator Is Found In Yard

LOS ANGELES (AP) — “I never thought I'd come home and find an alligator in the yard,” said Joyce Tucker.

She and her husband Marion discovered the reptile after returning from a weekend trip. The couple restrained their dog from attacking the intruder.

Mrs. Tucker thought the alligator might go away if they ignored him. He didn't. So they called the animal shelter. Two men captured the 5-foot, 60-pound beast with a looped rope on a stick.

No one knows where it came from.

SAILORS FIGHT TO SAVE LARGE WINE TANKER

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Sailors fought the sea today for the seven-million-dollar Angelo Petri, the world's largest wine tanker.

A powerful storm that raged in from the Pacific Tuesday left the 520-foot 21,800-ton tanker powerless and rudderless—adrift off the Golden Gate.

Her anchors finally caught bottom 37 miles from the San Francisco coast.

The Coast Guard responded to the Petri's distress calls and began evacuating crewmen by helicopter. Fourteen of the 40-man crew had been lifted from the heavily rolling vessel when Capt. Edward A. Lehn Jr., of San Mateo Calif., decided he might be able to save his ship and cargo—2½ million gallons of bulk

James MARLOW Reports

The Associated Press

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Keep your eye—both eyes, in fact—on Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson all the way up to next summer when the Democratic convention picks its presidential candidate.

He wants the nomination all right but until this past weekend he's been as coy as Alice-blue-gown.

Sens. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, both out-and-out candidates, can butt heads in state primaries and criss-cross the country, looking for support, until their tongues hang out.

That's not Johnson's way.

Master Of Detail
This tall Texan is a real, behind-the-scenes operator. He is one of the best maneuverers and compromisers who ever served as leader of the Senate Democrats.

The reason he can get so much legislation through the Senate with a minimum of brawls and nosebleeds is that he is a master of detail who knows exactly how many votes he can count on before he moves.

There is one other factor in his smooth operation there. Like President Eisenhower, he seems committed to the belief that name-calling is a hindrance in getting what he wants. It just creates enemies and opposition.

Supporters Are Busy

But until this weekend Johnson was like a man working out quietly in a political gymnasium to build up his muscles. While he denied he was a candidate, his supporters were busy bees, trying to line up support.

Then, suddenly, Johnson apparently thought his muscles were strong. He stopped being completely coy about his candidacy.

Last Friday in New Mexico he was still being quoted as saying he would not seek the nomination.

Then on Saturday night in Indianapolis he told reporters he expects to be chairman of the Texas delegation to the Democratic convention “and I hope it will be committed to the support of my candidacy.”

Is Seeking Record

So he finally came out with it, to the surprise of nobody. The only question about this was when he'd admit it.

There's good reason to believe that Johnson will try to build up in this session of Congress a record of legislation that will offset some of the Northern liberals' opposition to him as a conservative and Southerner.

The evidence is in the almost astonishing performance of the Senate in the past week.

Faces Tough Task

Within a couple of days the Senate approved two highly controversial issues—a federal aid to education bill and an anti-poll tax amendment to the Constitution—with hardly a murmur.

In times past either one of those issues would have produced weeks of debate and, in the case of the anti-poll tax amendment, probably a Southern filibuster. This year a Southerner introduced the amendment.

Johnson, however, is faced with an almost magical tightrope act: how can he get through legislation that won't turn the Southerners against him and will still please the Northern liberals?

wine.

Two Coast Guard cutters and two sea-going tugs steamed to the Petri's aid.

40 Feet Waves

The storm was still raging. Waves 30 to 40 feet high were crashing over the rolling decks. The Petri, with a 30-foot draft, was in less than 40 feet of water. Two sand bars were nearby.

One of the tugs, the Sea Cloud, fired a tow line to the tanker. While the second tug, the Sea Wolf, was preparing to fire a second tow line, the first line parted.

The Sea Wolf got its tow line to the Petri and it held. But Sea Cloud was unable to send another line over and the Sea Wolf was unable to haul the tanker through the gale alone.

Capt. V. F. Hellmer, commander of the cutter Taney, then decided to shoot a line from his 327-foot vessel and attempt to haul the Petri back into San Francisco Bay. Approaches were difficult and the Petri was having trouble raising its anchors.

English engineer George Stephenson invented the locomotive. His son, George, invented the locomotive. His son, George, invented the tubular bridge.

Truman Was A Scout Enthusiast

President Truman gave strong support to the Boy Scouts at every opportunity. He traveled to Valley Forge, Pennsylvania, in June 1950, to open personally the second national Jamboree.

Mr. Truman said:

“The Boy Scouts of America, since it was founded in 1910, has contributed greatly to the character training of our youth. What a greater nation this would be if the principles of Scouting could be woven more closely into our daily lives. If we can impress upon our youth principles of friendliness and mutual respect, we shall go a long way toward establishing a better understanding among the nations of the world.”

“The Boy Scouts of America is making a vital contribution to the character building of our boys and young men. Let us work together to make the program of the Boy Scouts available to every American boy.”

LIMIT ON DOGS

DETROIT (AP) — Suburban Lincoln Park is going to the dogs. Thanks to Mayor Jack Johns the canines won out in a proposal which would have limited each household to two dogs. The City Council was deadlocked 2-2 on the issue until the mayor cast his ballot against it.

He owns one dog.

FIVE IN FAMILY ILL
DOTHAN, Ala. (AP) — You can't tell Dr. Bruce McCannell there's no influenza epidemic—at least at his house. Five of his 10 children are in bed with the flu.

NEWARK, N. J. (AP) — George Meany, AFL-CIO president, has given the AFL and CIO state organizations six weeks to merge or else.

If they don't, Meany said he would force a merger.

That would be all right with the state AFL. The CIO isn't so sure. Paul Krebs, state CIO president, said Meany was only repeating threats he had made last November.

Black Walnut Boy Scout District Embraces Most Of Adams County

820 Boys, 300 Adults Are Numbered In Its Ranks; 34 Posts, Troops And Packs

The Black Walnut Boy Scout District, which embraces approximately two-thirds of Adams County west of a mythical line from Littlestown to near Berwyn, has 820 boys and more than 300 adults in 34 units. Explorer posts, 12 Boy Scout troops and 11 Cub packs. It is seeking a $9,000 budget for its operation during its Golden Anniversary year.

The entire program is a far cry from 1910 when a boy's club in Gettysburg decided to join a then new movement known as the Boy Scouts of America.

Deals of that first troop are found elsewhere in today's edition of The Gettysburg Times. Details of today's day-to-day activities are found in The Gettysburg Times from day to day, as they occur.

Served Civil War Vets

But the 50 years between the first troop and today's 34 units were filled with their share of activities by Boy Scouts, some of them still serving today as adult leaders in various local units.

The Scouting movement begun in 1910 continued for a number of years in Gettysburg. From that time until 1931 Scouting was an "off and on" program in the town and in the county. Various Boy Scout Troops began, flourished and died. Among one of the best was a unit headed by the late Clyde D. Berger, World War I veteran, whose troop immediately preceded the formal re-organization of scouting locally in 1931. Scouting flourished here in 1931 when the 50th anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg was observed and Boy Scouts served nobly as runners and escorts for more than 50,000 Civil War Veterans encamped on the Battlefield.

Benson And Zaner

By 1930 two men vitally important to Boy Scouting in the area had come upon the scene. Oscar H. Benson, who founded the 4H movement had moved to Guernsey. He was national director of the Lone Scouts of the United States, and he naturally devoted much time to the establishment of a Lone Scout tribe in his adopted Adams County.

And Ray F. Zaner, who for many middle-aged men of the area is still "Mr. Scouting," had become executive of the York County Boy Scout Council.

Benson was enlarging his Lone Scout tribe made up of boys throughout Adams County, when Zaner decided to enlarge the York area into the York Adams area. To do so Zaner visited Hanover where he found men willing to start troops and Gettysburg, where he discussed the possibility of a Boy Scout organization with Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, then president of the college.

Dean Tilberg Called

Dr. Hanson called in Dean W. E. Tilberg to see if he could do anything about establishing Boy Scouting in Gettysburg.

The year 1931 was an excellent year to spring Boy Scouting on Dean Tilberg. His son, Cedric Tilberg and Robert Hanson, Harrison Harbach, William Stock, Charles Shuman, John Deardorff, William Phelps, Mahlon P. Hartzell Jr. and Eric Duckstad had formed a boyhood club. They had interested Clarence Daniels, then a student at Gettysburg College, in becoming their leader and had called themselves the Boone Scouts. Later Lawrence Gillespie, a student at the college, became heir to the Boone Scouts. He had been an Eagle Scout. He inter-

Charles L. "Jim" Lott, Gettysburg R. 2 farmer, is shown as he appeared 29 years ago on "Nutting Day" at the Pennsylvania monument. Lott, then senior patrol leader of the Adams County Lone Scouts, was chairman of the program on October 24, 1931, at which the Lone Scouts presented more than 100 bushels of black walnuts to the U. S. Department of Agriculture for distribution throughout the nation. The bagged nuts shown above were gathered on his farm. Because of the great success of the black walnut collection here the Gettysburg Boy Scout District was renamed the Black Walnut District. The nut-gathering secured nationwide publicity for the local scouts.

the Battlefield during a tour of the U. S. Many youths who met the Canal Zone Scouts were those who showed great interest when Scouting was reorganized locally less than a year later.

The year 1930 also established the local council as the Black Walnut District—although no one knew it then.

A national program was under way to restore the Black Walnut tree in the nation. The program called for the nuts to be gathered at historical shrines and planted throughout America. Sponsors of the program were the Boy Scouts of America, the United States Department of Agriculture, the American Forestry Association and the American Walnut Manufacturers Association.

The Adams County Lone Scout Tribe decided in 1930 to assist in the program. They would gather black walnuts from the Gettysburg area to help restore the black walnut to the nation's forests. They did so well that by December 6, 1930, a photograph was taken of the members of the tribe, with the black walnuts they had gathered to be published in the American Forestry Magazine.

Gather 100 Bushels

By October 12, 1931, they had gathered almost 100 bushels and were becoming known throughout the land as the champion gatherers of black walnuts. On October 24, 1931, a special program was held at the Pennsylvania Monument at which the chief forest fire warden of Pennsylvania, the associate pomologist of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and other leaders including Dean Tilberg and Henry Bream were the speakers. The program was arranged by Charles L. Lott, patrol leader of the Lone Scouts. By that time the Lone Scouts had affiliated with the Boy Scouts in setting up the York-Adams Area Council.

The bushels of black walnuts left the Pennsylvania Monument by special truck for Washington to be distributed throughout the U. S. So successful was the program that the National Broadcasting Co. on October 30, 1931, mentioned the Adams County Boy Scouts and their success in gathering black walnuts, especially Clyde Sowers, Fairfield, who had collected the largest number of Swinn Jr., both of Gettysburg, neighborhood commissioners. District Commissioner Rex Maddox and the following neighborhood commissioners, Robert McCoy, Robert E. Storm and Melvin B. Sargeant, were not present when photograph was taken.

of the Gettysburg district and has remained in the area council ever since.

Go To Camp

By October 30, 1931, Dean Tilberg, by then also boys' work chairman for the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce, which had reorganized the same year Boy Scouting was re-organized here, was able to report that 90 members of the Gettysburg Scouts had camped a week at Camp Ganoga, then the York-Adams area camp, and that 26 of the youths had become second class Scouts. Twenty-five of the 90 who went to camp that first year were financed by donations from Gettysburg merchants.

November 21, 1931, the Gettysburg Scouts held their first rally, and Troop 76, the Presbyterian unit, was first in the contests that included fire building, signaling, knot tying, etc. Troop 80 of Christ Lutheran church was second.

Court of Honor

November 24, 1931 the first court of honor of the new district was held and more than 100 received awards. The late Rev. Fr. Mark E. Stock, pastor of St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church, presented first class badges to Cedrick Tilberg, Eric Lynch, Bernard Stock, Harvey Yngst, Edmund W. Thomas Jr., Murray Frazee and Lone Scout Clyde Sowers.

The year 1933 marked the only time that Boy Scouts from what is now the Black Walnut District received their awards directly from a President of the United States. Dean Tilberg had been talking about the Scouts to the late Congressman Harry L. Haines. "Those boys should get their medals from the President," Haines said one day when Haines was conferring with President Franklin D. Roosevelt about another matter, he mentioned how well the Gettysburg Scouts were doing. Roosevelt said he would like to give the boys their badges. Haines set December 15 at 10 a.m. as the time.

President Awards Badges

A severe storm hit the area and some of the Scouts were unable to reach Washington. President Roosevelt delayed the program until he learned that the other boys had turned back. Then he gave the badges to the boys who were present including the Eagle badge to Cedric Tilberg and Eric Lynch of the Christ Lutheran Troop. Star badges to Robert Hanson, Dale Stary, John Bollunger, Murray Frazee, William Phelps, John Deardorff, William Waters, Charles Pitzer and John Caskey.

On December 27, the then lieutenant governor of Pennsylvania, General Edward C. Shannon presented awards to Gilbert and Lloyd Reed and Fred Knox of Troop 78 who had been forced back by the storm on December 13.

Posthumous Decoration

David Thomas, who was to receive the life medal from President Roosevelt, and later from General Shannon, again was unable to be present. He finally received the award posthumously. The St. Francis Xavier Boy Scout was fatally injured in a sledding accident. At the viewing, Star Scout John Caskey of the Presbyterian troop came forward. He told Thomas' parents that their son had hoped to receive his Star badge from President Roosevelt and then from General Shannon and had been disappointed both times. He felt that he should have the badge in death and placed on the uniform of the deceased youth received from the President.

Through the years the number of troops in the Gettysburg district grew. The Lone Scouts became Scout units in Fairfield, Biglerville, Arendtsville and elsewhere. An outstanding Scout troop was formed at Littlestown. The "Gettysburg" district had become much more than Gettysburg and so a new name was sought.

Name Is Changed

Then the leaders recalled an incident of many years before—the day when the area became known throughout the nation for the work of its Lone Scouts in collecting black walnuts and so the name was given to the expanding district, the Black Walnut District, to honor the deeds of 1930-31.

To chronicle all of the events of Scouting in 50 years would fill volumes. Scouts have taken part in most everything that has gone on in the area, they have made pilgrimages, and traveled to National Jamborees and local safaris. They have established camps and made tours.

In time the Scouts' original Camp Ganoga was outgrown and with the assistance of the adults of the area about ten years ago they established the more than 500-acre Camp Tuckahoe near Dillsburg, along with Scouts from throughout the York-Adams area.

Littlestown Scouts have grown with the years and established their own camp along Marsh Creek at Natural Dam.

Plan Expansion

During the years thousands of Adams Countians have been members of Scout units and enjoyed and learned much.

Today there are units at Arendtsville, Biglerville, Bonneauville, Fairfield, Gettysburg, Littlestown, Hunterstown, York Springs, Aspers, Buchanan Valley, all under the general direction of the Black Walnut District.

And what is the Black Walnut District planning to do in making the 50th anniversary of scouting? Scout Field Executive Stanley C. Rogers says, "One thing is a vastly expanded program for the boys already in the units, and even more important, the establishment of new units in other communities throughout the district so that more boys may have a chance to enjoy the thrills the pleasures and the education of Scouting."

Congratulations

It is a rare privilege to be associated with the Boy Scouts as their official outfitter for a number of years . . . But it is an even greater privilege and a distinct pleasure to extend our sincerest greetings to them upon their Golden Jubilee Anniversary.

We congratulate the Black Walnut District and the Boy Scouts of America upon the completion of a very successful half-century of service to a great nation. You have accomplished great things . . . you have given unexcelled training to thousands of young Americans who are the better for their Scout affiliation.

We sincerely hope that your success and attainments will continue through to the end of time.

36 Boy Scouts Leave On Four-Day Hike To Capital To Meet President Taft

Forty-nine years ago five patrols of 36 Gettysburg boys left on what may have been the longest hike Scouts from this area ever made, a trek to Washington, D. C. to shake hands with President William Howard Taft.

It was a great event and their departure was a red letter day in historic Gettysburg. Some of the boys walked all the way to Washington and back. Others walked as far as a trolley line at Rockville, Md., then rode the rest of the way. Most of the Scouts rode home. Three completed the walk-a-thon: Clarence Epley, Spurgeon Keeney and Harry Troxell.

The Gettysburg Times kept its readers fully informed of the day-to-day activities of the Scouts as is revealed in the following series of articles reprinted from The Times of June, 1911:

Tuesday, June 7, 1911

This was probably the biggest day in the lives of 36 Gettysburg boys who started at 5:30 this morning on their four days' hike to Washington to meet the President and see the sights of the Capital City. The five patrols of Boy Scouts in charge of Rev. Joseph B. Baker started out with pennants flying and spirits high on the first lap of their 30-mile trip and by the time most Gettysburgians had reached their breakfast tables the boys in khaki were several miles from town.

The Scouts who marched boldly out with their long staffs, haversacks and other equipment this morning were:

Panther Patrol: Corporal Paul Spangler, Scouts Edwin Shoop, Carroll McDonnell, Edwin Codori, David Blocher.

Hound Patrol: Patrol Leader John Stahley, Scouts John Lippy, William Timmins, Mahlon Hartley, Henry Bream, Samuel Gilliland.

Kangaroo Patrol: Patrol Leader Robert Witherow, Corporal William Blair, Scouts George Sachs, Maurice Miller, Robert Mishler.

Walk To Thurmont

Bear Patrol: Patrol Leader Howard Armor, Corporal Alex. Buehler, Scouts Herbert Oyler, Ralph Deatrick, Theodore Horner, Lloyd Galbraith, Robert Sheads, Ernest Baker, Frank Kelly.

Wolf Patrol: Patrol Leader Henry Garvin, Scouts Roy Munderoff, Albert Menchey, Robert Jones, Walter Sykes, Clarence Epley, Edwin Ross, Glenn Sheely, Paul Weaver, Fred Pfeffer, David Yohe.

The first day's trip is to Thurmont where arrangements were made to have the Scouts have their headquarters in the Town Hall. They will sleep there the first night and will then proceed on the second day of their journey to Frederick. In case of heavy rains the schedule will be delayed as the young Scouts will not be exposed to any danger in this line.

The marching is being done by easy stages, the plan of hiking 30 minutes and resting 10 being followed on the entire trip. The Gettysburg boys will have with them Ernest Ziegler, Fred Troxell and Harry Troxell, who will sit at the meetings of the Scout Council.

The Scouts are advertising Gettysburg extensively, carrying a large banner presented by M. K. Eckert, while each one has a blue ribbon, with "Gettysburg" in gold, sewed on the lapel of the uniform.

Have Gift For President

The relic from the battlefield to be presented to President Taft is a handsome cane of wild cherry, the wood being secured at Devil's Den. The carving on the cane which is very elaborate was done by a special mechanic connected with the Moller pipe organ factory at Hagerstown. Around the top is carved a signet ring and, where the seal would be, there was inserted a silver plate on which was engraved "Presented to President Taft by the Boy Scouts of Gettysburg." This part of the work was done by William F. Weaver. The person who is to present the cane will be chosen by lot when the Scouts come within sight of Washington.

The Times will be in communication with the Scouts during their hike and will be able to tell their friends all details of the interesting trip.

Reach Thurmont

A telephone message from Thurmont states that the Gettysburg Boy Scouts reached there at 1:20 this afternoon, all in good shape and very little fatigued after their first day's hike of 18 miles. They rested 18 minutes. A short distance south of Emmitsburg they opened their haversacks and ate a lunch which they relished greatly. Then they started on for the terminus of the first day's journey. All along the route they excited a great deal of interest and are the talk of the town at Thurmont.

Scouts Spend First Night In Thurmont; Are Escorted Into Frederick, Maryland

Frederick, Md., June 8, 1911:

—After a night of very little sleep the Gettysburg Boy Scouts marched gaily out of Thurmont this morning on the second lap of their Gettysburg-Washington hike. Frederick was reached about noon, the entrance into the city being under the special escort of the Boy Scouts of Frederick who met the Gettysburg boys outside the limits and marched into town with them. All were in good shape with the possible exception of being a little tired and the appearance of blisters on their feet. Notwithstanding, they at once started arrangements for a baseball game in the afternoon.

The Gettysburg boys are the big event of interest here as they were in Thurmont where they stayed last night in the town hall. Soon after their arrival in Thurmont Wednesday afternoon the Scouts not on duty "did" the town and everywhere elicited the most favorable comment. The remark of Postmaster Bierly is a fair sample of what the Maryland town people thought of the Gettysburg boys. "They are a fine crowd," he said, "manly, well behaved boys, a credit to their parents and their town."

Pfeffer Attracts Attention

Fred Pfeffer, the smallest Scout in the troop, is the special figure of interest and gets more attention than any other individual in the crowd. At Thurmont a woman saw him going down the street and when he returned she opened the door and presented him with a bag of delicious Maryland cookies.

The Scouts remained on the streets until sundown with the exception of time for evening mess. Taps was sounded at nine o'clock and a few minutes later all was darkness in the town hall of Thurmont. Each Scout had made his bed by placing two rows of chairs facing each other and then laying blankets on them. Though they had been on the go since early morning not a Scout was tired and all night long there was noise in the hall with the result that very few got more than two or three hours sleep.

Bob Jones Had Toothache

One Scout would get awake, and with his staff poke his neighbor in the ribs. The neighbor would at once vent his displeasure on the next Scout and there was racket from similar causes the entire night. Patrols paced the floor but could not keep quiet in the darkness and by stumbling over the improvised beds helped add to the confusion.

Robert Jones suffered from toothache all night and he was compelled to walk some to relieve the pain. This too helped to add to the general unrest and at three o'clock this morning some of the Scouts decided it was time to rise. Others soon followed and by four o'clock all were up and eating breakfast. A half hour later all but two of the Scouts had started on the trip. These were Robert Jones, whose toothache made him go to Frederick by trolley, and William Timmins who was commissioned to accompany him as chief sympathizer. The former is expected to be in condition for Friday's march after today's rest.

Good Discipline

Edgar Faber and Fred Troxell joined the Scouts at Thurmont Wednesday evening and will be part of the Scout Council the remainder of the trip. Maurice Stansbury bivouacked with the Scouts at Thurmont but returned home to Gettysburg in the morning. Spurgeon Keeney is also with the troop.

The Gettysburg Scouts are using quantities of post cards advising their friends at home of their progress and almost every post office sees many of the cards dropped for Gettysburg. Regular routine of duty is being followed and good discipline is being maintained. It is expected that tonight the Scouts will be quite ready to sleep sound and long and that they will get a good rest before proceeding on their third day's hike to Gaithersburg, 23 miles.

President Is Presented Cane Made From Wood At Devil's Den; Is Pleased

Washington D. C., June 15, 1911—Well, the Boy Scouts of Gettysburg have met President Taft, have shaken hands with him and have presented to him a souvenir of their visit to Washington. They are now ready to return home and expect to arrive in Gettysburg at 6:40 this evening in a private car.

The big event of the trip took place promptly at half past two Wednesday afternoon. The Scouts formed in line at the White House and marched through a number of Secret Service men and guards into the East Room of the Executive Mansion, the room in which Miss Alice Roosevelt was married and where the large social functions of the White House are held. Here the Scouts and a few other parties formed a semicircle and waited for President Taft to appear. They had but a few moments to wait and the reception quickly followed. One by one the boys passed him, giving a guard their names and thus being formally introduced to the Chief Executive. When Carroll McDonnell reached him he said:

Gives Cane To President
"Mr. President, accept this cane in behalf of the Boy Scouts of Gettysburg."

The President took the battle-field souvenir cane which the boys had taken along on the trip and looking at it said:

"Why, thank you, I shall keep it and prize it highly."

Congressman Lefean who was standing with Mr. Taft told him that the wood in the cane came from Devil's Den and the President seemed much pleased, answering immediately:

"Is that so? I was there."

The reception over, the boys immediately turned their steps towards the YMCA swimming pool for they had had a strenuous day of it preceding the reception.

Visit Lincoln Museum

At seven o'clock in the morning the Scouts visited the Lincoln Museum. An hour later they visited the Washington Times office where a photographer took a photograph of Carroll McDonnell and the cane he was to present to Mr. Taft later in the day. From there the Scouts marched to the Patent Office and then to the Treasury where they were shown the vault that contains over a hundred million silver dollars.

When the guide told the boys how many wagons are required to transport this fortune in coin one remarked:

"Well, I can carry all I have without using even one wagon."

From the Treasury the Scouts went to the State, War and Navy departments, then to lunch and after lunch to the magnificent hall of the Daughters of the American Revolution and to the Fish Commission building. This ended the sight seeing and was followed by the visit to the White House.

Trip Is Success

The Scouts have their heads crammed so full of information about things they have seen that they will be busy for the next two months telling their friends at home all about their trip. It has been a big time and the tour has been a success in every particular. The boys have shown no end of endurance and seem little tired after the busy times of the past eight days during which they marched over seventy miles on their way here and have been on the go ever since their arrival in this city.

Large Crowd Greet Boy Scouts At W-M Station

June 16, 1911

The Western Maryland station was crowded Thursday evening with relatives, friends and admirers of the Boy Scouts of Gettysburg who gathered there to welcome the sight seeing boys upon their return from their eight days' trip to the Capital City.

Had the Scouts actually been to war for a year, escaped all injury from shot and shell and been returned safe to their parents the greeting they would have received could scarcely have been more effusive. The welcome given them showed how much their pluck was admired and how much they had been missed.

All came home with the exception of three, Clarence Epley, Harry Trovill and Spurgeon Keeney. This trio started to hike it home today and will reach Gettysburg some time next week. They were not sure whether they would return by way of Harper's Ferry or Westminster and this will decide whether or not they get here before the latter part of the week.

All Enthusiastic

All three of the boys marched the entire way down and are anxious to make a record of hiking both ways between Gettysburg and Washington. Edgar Faber and Fred Trovill, members of the Scout Council did not return with the main body but came back today.

The Scouts are all enthusiastic over the time they had. All claim that they are just as well as when they started out with the possible exception of more or less sickly pocketbooks.

Questions by the score have been put to the Scouts at their homes and by their friends ever since they came back and they have been too busy talking to think of much else. One of the principal questions asked was:

"What did you do in the evenings?" To this one of the boys answered:

"Glad To Rest"

"Some nights we went to the Congressional Library, only a little distance from the church where we were quartered. Other nights we went to the picture shows but as a rule, by the time evening came, we were right tired and glad to rest."

The boys kept peace with each other throughout the entire trip except once each day when the mail came and with it a pack of The Gettysburg Times. A daily scrap for the news from home was the result and it was always a few minutes before things were straightened out.

The trip home was made without incident. From Washington to Baltimore they had a Pullman electric car. A special car from the Monumental City here would have been secured but they had only ten minutes margin and that was too short a time in which to arrange for the service.

June 17, 1911

The Emmitsburg Chronicle says editorially: "A striking little example of courtesy and propriety was given last week by the Boy Scouts of Gettysburg as they came through town. Just as the company reached the corner of the Square a funeral was approaching St. Joseph's church. Instantly these little soldiers uncovered and remained at attention until the cortege passed. It was an act they may have escaped the notice of many, but those who witnessed it were deeply impressed by the thoughtfulness that prompted this outward and manly expression of respect for the dead. Of such material let it be said are courteous citizens made."

More than half the men at West Point and Annapolis each year report they were Scouts.

Foot-Sore And Tired Boy Scouts Change Plans And Curtail Marching Mileage

Frederick, Md., June 9, 1911. — The Gettysburg Boy Scouts, more footed and tired after two days of strenuous marching, decided at a meeting of the Scout Council last evening to change their plans and not try to make Gathersburg today as was originally planned. Instead they left here at 9:30 this morning for a 13-mile march to Clarksburg, a small village between here and Gathersburg. They will stay at this village tonight and tomorrow will resume the march going as far as Rockville, another village about 12 miles from Washington, where they will take the trolley for the last lap of their hike.

It was thought better to do this than to keep the Scouts in the country over Sunday and as a result the hike will be just 12 miles less than originally planned.

Swim In Pool
Blisters and sore spots have appeared on the feet of most of the boys and they were considerably tired out after Thursday's march to this place. They were quartered here at the Armory where all were given comfortable places to sleep and few there were who failed to put in a long night of sound slumber. Thursday afternoon all had a good swim in the pool at the YMCA building and with this and the sleep of last night they were greatly refreshed when they started out this morning.

While here a number of the boys visited Barbara Fritchie's grave and on the way out of town this morning they stopped at the grave of Francis Scott Key and all sang with great enthusiasm "The Star Spangled Banner" which had made his name renowned.

Bill Timmins Stricken
The first real sickness of the trip appeared Thursday morning when William Timmins who had come to this place with Robert Jones who had toothache, developed a bad case of earache. He was put to bed at the YMCA and a physician summoned. A high fever had developed and he was sent home this morning. Robert Withrow accompanying him (See note below).

The scouts played a three inning game of baseball with the Frederick Scouts last evening and lost 5 to 0 through they put up a good fight.

Last evening they were much in evidence here. They were right tired, however, and went to bed early. The good sleep followed and all were feeling well this morning when they left.

NOTE William Timmins arrived home at 12:10 over the Western Maryland suffering considerably from earache and all most deaf from the trouble. He was put to bed at once. Robert Withrow who accompanied him will rejoin the Scouts at Rockville Saturday.

Among the messages sent home on postal cards are the following:

"Home was never like this," William Timmins.

"I am feeling better than I ever did," Henry Bream.

"I am feeling all right but my feet are a little sore from the nails in my shoes," Mahlon Hartley.

"I feel fine and don't have sore feet like the other fellows," David Blocher.

"I don't like Emmitsburg but Thurmont is all right," Carroll McDonnell.

"Mama don't worry I'm getting along fine," Freddie Pfeffer.

"Had to sleep on the floor and did not sleep well — too hard," George Sachs.

"Arrived safe in Frederick," Robert Jones.

Congratulations

It is a privilege to have this opportunity to extend my personal congratulations to the Boy Scouts upon the occasion of their Fiftieth Anniversary.

It was an honor and a privilege to have been a member of the first Boy Scout troop in Gettysburg, instituted the year of the founding of Scouting. To each of you I extend best wishes for continued success throughout your life.

Gettysburg Boy Scouts Reach Washington; Are Happy, In Good Health

Washington, D. C., June 12, 1911. — The Gettysburg Boy Scouts reached Washington Saturday afternoon, all in good health and spirits and today started out on their first sight-seeing trip about the city. Of the number who started from Gettysburg Wednesday morning six walked the entire distance from St. James parsonage to the very heart of the Capitol City. The remainder took the trolley about eight miles from Washington and rode the balance

Three Scouts Complete Last Leg Of Hike

June 19, 1911

Clarence Epley, Spurgeon Keeney and Harry Troxell, the three who decided to hike back from Washington — thus making the journey both ways on foot — arrived in Gettysburg at 10 Sunday evening after having made the final lap from Westminster, 25 miles in exactly seven hours.

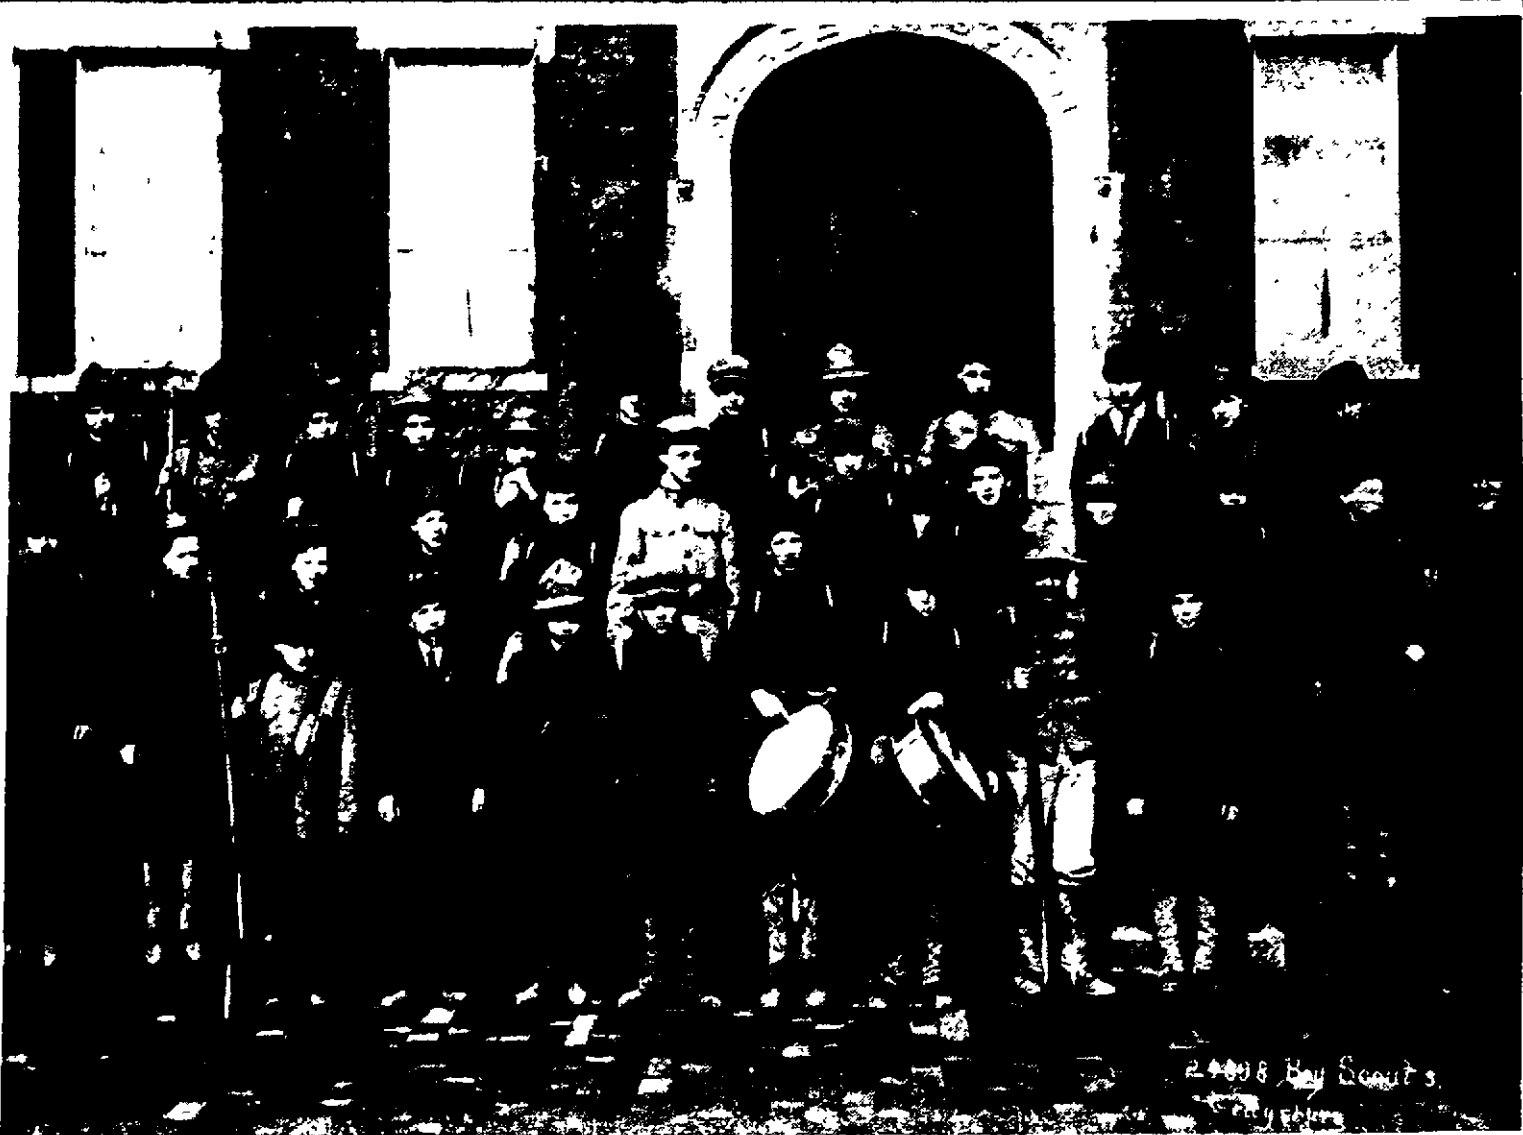

The return trip consumed three days the first day's hike on Friday being 33 miles from Washington to Glenwood. They arrived at their destination at half past seven in the evening, traveling all day with the necessary rests and two stops for meals. They stayed at a hotel Friday night.

One-Stop Jaunt

Saturday they walked from Glenwood to Westminster, 22 miles. They started from Glenwood shortly before six o'clock in the morning and finished their day's walk at half past three in the afternoon. At Westminster they were the guests of Robert Schnitzer.

The final lap of the long hike was started at 3:10 Sunday afternoon when the Scouts left Westminster. The last 13 miles were made with but one stop for a drink of water and the boys made exceptionally good time in the face of darkness and very muddy roads from Littlestown here.

The three Scouts claim they enjoyed the hike home greatly and that they experienced no fatigue whatever. They have the distinction of being the only Gettysburgians for many years to walk to and from the Capital City.

Above is a photograph taken of the first Gettysburg Boy Scout troop, believed to be the summer of 1910 or 1911. It was taken in front of the Meade School and includes the following: First row: Ralph "Buzzy" Stover, Herbert Oyler, Roy Mundorff, Glenn Sheely, Alex Buehler, William Timmins, George Sachs, Bob Jones. Second row: Lloyd Galbraith, Robert Mishler, Lloyd Shoretts, end of the front row.

Above is a photograph of 13 local "veteran" Boy Scouts who made the memorable hike to Washington in June, 1911, to call on President William Howard Taft. Some did not quite make it to the nation's capital and only three made the round-trip on foot. In the photograph are, left to right: Robert Sheeds, Edwin Shoop, William Timmins, John Stahl, C. W. Epley, Paul G. Spangler, Fred Troxell, John D. Lippy, Fred G. Pfeffer, Harry J. Troxell, Herbert Oyler, George Sachs, W. Howard Armor, Henry T. Bream, who made the trek to the capital, was not present when the above photograph was taken.

Scouts Go Sight-Seeing In Capital; See Ball Game

Washington, D. C., June 13 — Monday was a day of sight-seeing and pleasure for the Gettysburg Boy Scouts who put through 12 long and active hours visiting various places of interest and witnessing a game of baseball between the Washington and Chicago American League teams.

In the morning the National Museum, the Smithsonian Institution and the Washington Monument were all taken in together with enough sodas to prevent prostration. (One of the Scouts was responsible for that last remark.) Just before noon the Scouts marched to Congress where they saw Champ Clark, Joe Cannon and numerous other big men. The session was exceptionally interesting during the time the Scouts were there. A first class scrap was on about an appropriation of $5,000 for investigating the governmental affairs of the District of Columbia and Champ Clark had a nosier bunch on hand than Rev. Mr. Baker ever had with the Scouts. The boys enjoyed it thoroughly. After dinner they marched to the station and met Mrs. Baker, Miss Grace Sachs and Miss Nellie Blocher who are visiting here for a few days. After they had arrived and been properly welcomed the boys went up to the YMCA to see whether the swimming pool was still there. The baseball game was next on the program and, from the eagerness with which the boys watched it, the natives of Gettysburg may expect a detailed account upon their return which will be made Thursday or Friday of this week by private car.

Today the trip to Mount Vernon was on the schedule. All are looking forward with great eagerness to meeting President Taft Wednesday afternoon at 2:30. Carroll McDonnell drew the lot to present the Gettysburg came to the Chief Executive.

Gettysburg Scouts Visit Washington's Birthplace

Washington, D. C., June 14, 1911. — Tuesday morning was spent by the Gettysburg Boy Scouts on the Mount Vernon trip. The journey down the Potomac was an innovation which was greatly enjoyed by the Gettysburg boys and they were as enthusiastic over that portion of the present outing as anything they have yet done.

Mount Vernon's various spots of interest were eagerly sought. The room in which Washington died pleased the boys especially while that in which Martha Washington passed her last hours came in for its share of attention. The old family carriage, and the cushions, slippers, chairs, swords, dresses, tables and utensils which fill the place, each with its special interest as having belonged to Washington and his family, were all viewed with great eagerness by the youthful sightseers. All the rooms are as they were in Washington's time.

Scouts Visit Tombs
The gifts from Lafayette to Washington were almost as interesting to the boys as the other things in the house. The tomb of Washington and his wife was visited before starting on the return, which was reluctantly begun after one of the most pleasantly instructive days since the Scouts left Gettysburg one week ago.

Upon the return to the Capital City the boys all went up to the YMCA for their daily swim. Even in this big city the Gettysburg boys arouse great interest. The newspapers are showing

WILLIAM TAFT SET BSA PAGE

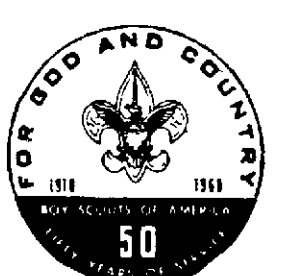

When President William Howard Taft in 1910 agreed to be honorary president of the Boy Scouts of America he set a precedent accepted by each of his successors. President Taft accepted to "thus sustain a similar relation to the movement as does King George V to a similar movement in England."

The national character of the Boy Scouts of America was brought before the nation on February 14 and 15, 1911, when the first annual meeting of the organization was held in the White House at the invitation of President Taft. The new movement was helped considerably by the prestige of his earnest endorsement. Of Scouting he said: "I am very glad to give my sympathy and support to such a movement as this. Anything that directs the boy's spirit in the right channel for usefulness and for the making of manly men should be encouraged."

"Every nation depends for its future upon the proper training and development of its youth. The American boy must have the best training and discipline our great democracy can provide if America is to maintain her ideals, her standards and her influence in the world. "Anything that is done to increase the effectiveness of the Boy Scouts of America will be a genuine contribution to the welfare of the nation."

"Onward For God And My Country"

This is the theme of the Boy Scout four-year program . . . We would like to pay tribute to everyone who helps to make Scouting possible.

Scouting And World Brotherhood

For 50 years the Boy Scouts of America has brought to American boys the great adventure of the out-of-doors and the lure of unblazed trails.

It has brought the adventure of citizenship, the motive to serve other people, the daily good turn and helpfulness to the nation in time of war and peace. These and other adventures have captured the imagination of boys.

One of the greatest of them all has been the adventure of friendship, the brotherhood that speaks around the world

In practically every country in the free world there are Scouts who are dedicated to tolerance, good will and friendliness. There are 5,000,000 Scouts and leaders here and 3,000,000 or more brother Scouts in other lands.

The Boy Scouts of America, through its World Friendship Fund, aids Scout associations of other lands. Our Scouts have taken part in 10 World Scout jamborees and in 1960 will be hosts to Scouts from all over the world at the national Scout jamboree next July.

Scouts of the world are working together to help build a better world. Their high ideals and spirit of service will be important factors in these efforts.

We congratulate the Boy Scouts of America on their glorious golden anniversary and wish them Godspeed in their future work.

High Adventure For Siple Found In Scout Program

Most boys join the Boy Scouts of America to do interesting things with friends, to learn to live in the great outdoors, and to have fun.

Several have found exceptional opportunities for high adventure through their Scouting affiliation. For some Scouting experiences have changed their lives by helping them in their careers chosen after their samples of experiences through Scout work.

Perhaps the foremost authority in America today on polar matters is Dr. Paul A. Siple, director of the United States Army's Office of Polar Affairs.

Was Eagle Scout

Paul was an Eagle Scout, who by hard work earned six merit badges that challenged his abilities. In 1928 Commander Richard E. Byrd agreed to take on his first Antarctic expedition some boy who had made a good record as a Scout. Hundreds of older Boy Scouts applied. After arduous tests Siple was selected.

After fourteen months in the Antarctic according to Byrd's own testimony Siple was as cooperative intelligent and mature as any member of the expedition.

A few years later on the second Byrd expedition Siple filled the position of chief biologist. In 1939 when he received his Ph.D. in geography he was chosen as leader of the Little America base of the United States Antarctic Service Expedition.

Deputy To Byrd

Some 17 years later he became deputy to Byrd who was in charge of the United States Antarctic programs, and in 1957 Siple was leader of the first party to live a full year at the South Pole.

Other Scouts have picked up Siple's lead. Three 15-year-old lads, Richard Douglas, David R. Martin, and Douglas Oliver, accompanied the Martin Johnsons on an African adventure. They were picked from among hundreds of qualified Scouts.

Today Dr. Douglas L. Oliver is a professor of anthropology at Harvard University. Richard Douglas is an attorney in his native city, and David R. Martin is serving Scouting professionally as a deputy regional Scout executive of Region XII on the Pacific coast.

In 1927 eight young men were selected from among Chicago Sea Scouts to man the schooner "Northern Light" on the John Borden Field Museum Expedition to the Bering Sea and Arctic Ocean.

A few years ago Explorer Richard Lee Chappell was selected from Scouting's ranks and became the youngest member of the scientific team at any of the United States Antarctic stations of the International Geophysical Year. He brought fresh recognition for the value of Scout training. Today Dick is a scholarship student at Princeton University, preparing for a career in physics.

Other Scouts were selected on many private expeditions. One of them, Arthur Owen of Beaumont, Texas made the longest sledging journey in Antarctica in 1947 while a member of the Ronne Antarctic Research Expedition in newly-discovered land fronting the Weddell Sea.

MANY CHANGES IN U. S. SINCE SCOUTS BEGAN

In 1910 when the Boy Scouts of America began there were few youth organizations in the nation, and comparatively few adults serving as volunteer leaders. The organization absorbed the Sons of Daniel Boone led by Daniel Carter Beard, later national Scout commissioner, and Ernest Thompson Seton's Tribe of Woodcraft Indians, and some groups following a Scouting program based on the British Scout organization.

Today there are nearly 1,400,000 adult leaders in the Boy Scouts of America serving more than 3,700,000 boys in Cub Scouting, Boy Scouting, and Exploring.

No Radio Or TV

The population of the United States in 1910 was 91,972,266 persons. There were neither radio nor television sets, and the automobile was still regarded as a curiosity. Streets were still lighted by gas in many places. A transcontinental train trip took four days.

Some interesting events occurred in 1910, the year Scouting came to America.

By means of a telephone transmitter, the voice of Enrico Caruso singing backstage at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York was heard as far away as Connecticut.

"Tree Of Peace"

At the dedication of the Pan American Union Building in Washington, D. C., by President Taft and Andrew Carnegie, donor of the structure, a "tree of peace" was planted, dedicated to friendship among the American republics.

Glacier National Park in Montana was named a national park by Congress and a notable, beloved American, Mark Twain, passed on.

Halley's Comet passed over the sun that year frightening hundreds of thousands of Americans. All were certain the comet's appearance would coincide with the end of the world.

Glenn H. Curtiss won a prize of $10,000 for completing a flight from Albany, New York, to New York City, a distance of 142 miles, in two hours and 51 minutes.

"It's something different from the Boy Scouts" . . .

Thus, a 15-year-old lad described the Kansas City "Nazi" club of which he was a member, when police questioned him about the bombing of a Synagogue and smearing Swastikas on other buildings.

"No, I think it is something like Communism."

This was the answer of his pal, another 15-year-old, when asked if he knew anything about National Socialism, which he said was the doctrine of the club.

Misguided - stupid - smart-alecky? Yes, these lads are all of them. Yet, even though unknowingly, one of them paid a high tribute to the Boy Scouts—they are truly different . . . and for this America is eternally grateful.

On this 50th Anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America, we join with others, all over the country and throughout the free world, in publicly expressing pride in objectives and the accomplishments of the Boy Scout program.

We express our appreciation, at the same time, for the dedicated services of thousands of Troop Leaders who are exerting a healthy influence on the youth of America.

Their accomplishments are as important to America as they must be a source of gratifying satisfaction to them.

HOOVER SET UP DEVELOPMENT PLAN FOR BSA

During his term in the White House, President Hoover showed keen interest in Scouting. In 1930 he appointed Dr. James E. West, chief Scout executive, as chairman of the Committee on Youth Outside the Home and School in the White House Conference on Child Health and Protection. Mr. Hoover also launched a forward movement and development program for the Boy Scouts of America at a dinner commemorating Scouting's twentieth anniversary. "The first test of democracy," says Mr. Hoover, "is that each individual shall have opportunity to take that position of leadership in the community to which his character, his ability and his ambition entitle him; and because the progress of our country is thus directly related to the training in leadership we can give the youth of the nation."

Discusses Role

"In meeting the vital need that when the oncoming generation takes over our national affairs it shall be a generation bulwarked with character, the Boy Scout movement plays a most useful part."

Speaking of the American boy, President Hoover said: "The Boy Scout movement has opened for him the portals to adventure and constructive joy, by reviving the lore of the frontier and the campfire by establishing contacts with the birds and sometimes with the bees, by matching his patience to the deliberate character of fish, by efficient operations of the swimming hole, and by peeps into the thousand mysteries of the streams, the trees and the stars."

Boy Scouting's golden anniversary in 1960 will be observed wherever American boys live.

FDR LONG-TIME FRIEND OF BSA; ONCE OFFICIAL

President Franklin D. Roosevelt was the first to enter the White House with a record as an active Scout leader. He was president of the Greater New York Council of the Boy Scouts of America and when he died in 1945 had a record of 24 years' service in Scouting.

"As one who has been interested in Scouting over many years," President Roosevelt wrote during World War II, "it has been most heartening to have so many evidences of the practical values of Scout training. We must remember that, next to active military service itself, there is no higher opportunity for serving our country than helping youth to carry on in their efforts to make themselves physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight, and prepared to help their country to the full in time of war, as well as in time of peace."

"We must make sure that those volunteer agencies which are supplementing the church, the home and the school by providing programs that will help equip the present generation to cope with life problems in the difficult days

U. N. Official Says Scouting Helpful

Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, undersecretary for special political affairs for the United Nations, says he received "definite and valuable lessons" through his Scout training.

"My boyhood experience with Scouting was short," he says, "but it was long enough to give me the benefit of certain definite and valuable lessons. The importance and the joy of teamwork, of working harmoniously with others, was one.

ahead are maintained to their maximum capacity and effectiveness."

On February 10, 1934, hundreds of thousands of Boy Scouts assembled in theaters and public auditoriums to hear a nationwide radio broadcast of President Roosevelt. In response to his request these Scouts helped national relief work by collecting nearly two million articles of clothing, household furnishings, and other articles for needy families.

Troops and councils were stimulated in their Scouting work by the President Roosevelt awards. "I firmly believe that the Boy Scout movement represents a new era of moral force in America," Mr. Roosevelt said on one occasion.

We Salute the Boy Scouts

As we proudly celebrate the 92nd Anniversary of the Order of Elks this month, we offer a fatherly salute to another great American organization that is observing an important milestone this month, the Boy Scouts of America. On February 8, the Boy Scouts mark 50 years of service to American boyhood, and we Elks can take great pride in that record, because we had an important hand in writing it.

For 40 years, the Elks have worked in partnership with the Boy Scouts, a partnership that has grown closer and more effective with the passing years. In 1920, ten years after the Boy Scouts were founded in this country, Elks lodges were sponsoring 14 Troops. In 1947, the number of Elk-sponsored Scout units had grown to 308. In that year, the Grand Lodge officially endorsed Scouting and made it a part of our youth program. As a result, the number of Scout units sponsored by Elks lodges—Cub Packs, Scout Troops, Explorer Posts—jumped to 735 by the end of 1958, latest figure available. This was a gain of 139 per cent in 11 years.

The real meaning of these figures is this: By sponsoring 735 Scout units, the Elks are giving thousands of American boys the golden opportunity to receive the finest kind of training in citizenship, self-discipline, patriotism and moral principles. In short, we are helping to make them the right kind of leaders for the stern challenge of tomorrow's world. The Boy Scouts of today are the Elks of tomorrow.

FITNESS TO BE MAJOR PART OF 50TH BIRTHDAY

Keeping physically fit will be an important feature of the 50th anniversary celebration of the Boy Scouts of America this year. A great variety of activities involving fitness will be conducted nationally and locally.

Keeping fit is one of the four requirements a boy must complete to qualify for the Fiftieth Anniversary Achievement Award.

Fitness is everybody's business — the butcher, the baker, the confectioner, the maker. All of them have to be fit to carry on happy useful lives as citizens in their respective communities and occupations. This was true in pioneer life and is just as true today.

Scouts Accept Challenge
The Boy Scouts of America with its vast man power and program resources has accepted the challenge of the times to help boys and young men grow in fitness — physically fit, mentally and emotionally fit, socially and spiritually fit.

Personal fitness is a multiple program, but it has a single purpose: To prepare young men to live happily, usefully, and more completely in the world that surrounds them.

Emotionally, preparedness should mean to a Scout that he will still grow whether he wins or loses in Scouting's "play way of learning."

Deal With Reality
Through Scouting he learns to deal constructively with reality. Scouting helps him adapt to the forces that confront him in everyday life. As he progresses along the Scouting trail he learns that fear or anxiety in certain proportions help to develop an awareness that will help him to avoid pitfalls in later life.

He also learns that by following the rules of the game he will learn how to control himself and others.

Daily Good Turn
In the "Daily Good Turn" he tells those who trust him that he is growing up and will shortly be able to accept more and greater responsibilities. Through games of fun and skill he learns to control his feelings and thus makes one of life's important adjustments, getting along with other people.

Scouting teaches him love of his fellow man, love of country, and in later years paves the way for acceptance of family responsibilities.

As the Scout grows, so grows the boy into a young citizen prepared in body, mind, and will to carry on for a better and more useful life.

HARDING SET UP TROOP AWARDS

"Harding Awards" were earned by 5,058 Boy Scout troops in 1953. Authorized by President Warren G. Harding these went to troops having increases in membership by the end of 1953. President Harding wrote to 302 presidents of local Boy Scout councils which earned the awards.

When he accepted the honorary presidency of the Boy Scouts of America, President Harding said:

"I am with the Scout movement heart and soul. It is an organization teaching the spirit of service and honor which we must always have in our citizenship. It is a school of democracy because in it, standing is won only by taking the equal opportunity given all individuals to show their own merit, capacity and worth."

"I wish every boy in our America could have the advantage and the honor of being in the Boy Scout organization."

Dr. Arthur A. Schuck, chief Scout executive since 1948, began in Scouting in 1913 as an assistant Scoutmaster in Newark, New Jersey.

Gettysburg Boy Scouts have always practiced their precept "Do A Good Turn Daily." In this layout of photographs Gettysburg Scouts are shown serving as escorts for veterans of the Civil War who came to Gettysburg, more than 50,000 strong, to attend the observance of the fiftieth anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg. Likewise, during the 75th anniversary of the Battle, more than 200 Scouts from this area served as "runners" and escorts for veterans of the war of 1861-65. And it is a foregone conclusion that they will serve in some capacity when the 100th anniversary is observed in 1963.

Ray Wiegand, Boy Scout executive of the York-Adams Area Council, who supervises the activities of 7,200 boys and more than 3,000 men and women in the two-county area. He has been active in Scouting for 44 years, 32 years of which were in the professional field. He has served on the Pittsburgh Council, Oil City and Washington, Pa., and in the York-Adams area since October 15, 1956.

Presidents Aid Scout Movement

One of the causes contributing to the success of the Boy Scouts of America has been the thoughtful, wholehearted way in which each President of the United States since Taft, in 1910, has taken an active part in the work of the movement.

Two Presidents — Franklin D. Roosevelt and Dwight D. Eisenhower — were both active in Scouting before they entered the White House.

Mr. Roosevelt was a founder and president of the Boy Scout Foundation of Greater New York and led a campaign to raise funds for its famous Ten Mile River camps in Sullivan County, New York.

President Eisenhower has been a member of the National Executive Board of the Boy Scouts of America since 1948.

William D. Boyce started the Boy Scouts of America in 1910 as the result of a good turn rendered to him by an unknown British Boy Scout.

LOCAL SCOUTS TO TAKE PART IN BSA TRIBUTE

Boy members and adults of the Black Walnut District will contribute toward a commemorative tribute to be erected in Washington, D. C., to honor the thirty-three and a half million Americans who have been affiliated with the Boy Scouts of America since its establishment in 1910. It will especially honor the eight million men and women who have served as leaders in the organization.

The tribute has been authorized by Congress and President Eisenhower. Present plans are that the commemorative tribute will be of bronze or similar metal depicting a boy or boys grouped with one or more leaders, centered in a fountain with a background of scenes depicting various phases of Scouting's program, aims, and objectives.

This will also provide a place of assembly for Scout groups on their visits to Washington.

Present and former members of the Boy Scouts of America will have an opportunity to share in the project. Each donor will sign his name on a scroll. These names will be sealed in the commemorative tribute as evidence of the contributor's appreciation of the services rendered by the volunteer leaders during the half century.

Fifty dime-sized coin slots have been sent to each Scoutmaster, Cubmaster, and Explorer advisor. It is hoped that each unit will fill the coin card and contribute at least ten cents per boy.

Adult members, if they wish, may contribute currency or a check.

The final form of the tribute and its date of dedication will be determined by the response from units throughout the United States.

SCOUTS HAD 3 EXECUTIVES IN FIFTY YEARS

Three men have occupied the position of chief Scout executive of the Boy Scouts of America during its fifty years of existence.

First to hold this highest administrative post was Dr. James E. West. At the age of 34 this Washington, D. C., attorney accepted the task of putting the organization on a sound basis within a six-month period. The six-month period turned out to be a career lasting from January 2, 1911, when he opened the first National office at 200 Fifth Avenue, New York City, with seven employees, until February 1, 1943, when he became the chief Scout.

Fretwell Was Second
He was succeeded by Dr. Elbert K. Fretwell of Teachers Col-

Stanley C. Rogers, Boy Scout executive of the Black Walnut District, is a graduate of the University of Scranton and has been active in Scouting for 28 years, seven of which were in the professional field. He is a veteran of World War II, having served with the Marine Corps. He was wounded on active duty. He has been affiliated with the Black Walnut District since June of 1956. He resides at 202 Ridge Ave. with Mrs. Rogers and their six children.

MANY LEADERS OF SCOUTING ARE HONORED

The Boy Scouts of America each year honors among its adult volunteer leaders those who have rendered distinguished service to boyhood.

The Silver Buffalo, the first award, was created in 1926 to honor those for outstanding service to boyhood through Scouting and outside the movement.

At the 16th National Council

lege, Columbia University, who had been identified with the organization since its earliest days. Dr. Fretwell served on the National Executive Board from 1933 to February 1, 1943. He was chief Scout executive until September 1, 1948, when he was succeeded by the present chief Scout executive, Dr. Arthur A. Schuck. Dr. Fretwell is the chief Scout, succeeding Dr. West who died in May 1948.

Entered Scouting In '13
Dr. Schuck entered Scouting in 1913 as a volunteer leader at Newark, New Jersey. In 1917 he entered Scouting professionally.

He served as a Scout executive at Lancaster, Reading and Chester County, all in Pennsylvania, and Los Angeles, California. From 1919 to 1922 he was regional Scout executive of Region III, serving Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, Delaware, and the District of Columbia.

In 1922 he became a member of the Field Department at the national office as a specialist in finance and organization.

During his administration three national Boy Scout jamborees have been held. The fourth under his leadership takes place this July 22-28 at Colorado Springs, Colorado, where he will be the camp chief.

EISENHOWER KEEPS POST ON SCOUT BOARD

President Dwight D. Eisenhower had been on the National Executive Board of the Boy Scouts of America for five years when he entered the White House in 1953. Upon accepting the honorary presidency of the organization he retained his position as a member of the board.

A staunch supporter of Scouting ever since his son was a Scout, President Eisenhower has this appraisal of its work:

"The Boy Scout movement merits the unstinted support of every American who wants to make his country and his world a better place in which to live. Its emphasis on community service and tolerance and world friendship promotes a speedier attainment of the enduring peace among men for which we all strive."

"By developing among its members both a spirit of sturdiness, self-reliance and a realization of the need for cooperative effort in every major enterprise, the movement is a prime force in preparing tomorrow's men for their duty to themselves, their country, and their world."

"Here in the United States the Boy Scouts of America have accomplished much in its years of service. But today, more than ever before, we need expansion of its membership and influence."

their awards before entering the White House.

Other prominent Americans so honored were Charles A. Lindbergh, Richard E. Byrd, Charles Evans Hughes, J. Edgar Hoover, Irving Berlin, Bernard Baruch, Cardinals Spellman and Cushing, Lowell Thomas, Walter E. Disney, and two members of President Eisenhower's cabinet: Ezra Taft Benson and Robert B. Anderson.

First Awards

The first Silver Beaver Awards for distinguished service within a local council were presented in 1931. During his month as president of the Boy Scouts of America, before his sudden death in June 1931, Mortimer L. Schiff developed requirements for this award. Each year 1,300 Americans who render noteworthy service locally receive the Silver Beaver. The Silver Antelope was later provided to recognize service within a region. About fifty persons are so honored each year.

33,500,000 persons have been affiliated with the Boy Scouts of America since 1910.

annual meeting in Washington, D. C., in 1926, the first award went to Sir (later Lord) Baden-Powell, founder of Scouting. The second went to the Unknown Scout of Great Britain, whose good turn to William D. Boyce, Chicago publisher, while on an errand in foggy London brought Scouting to America.

WE SHARE A MILESTONE

Since 1910 the Boy Scouts have served America—in war and peace, in feast and famine, in good times and bad. They have gone about their jobs with dignity and courage. They have lent a hand where and when it was needed.

The Boy Scouts of today will be our leaders tomorrow. They will serve their neighbors and their country with sincerity and integrity. They will be a credit to their friends and to their country. Their conduct will breathe the spirit of freedom and democracy.

A noble profession is that of Scouting . . . allegiance to God, and Man, and Country. Such dedication can keep us free and great.

The goals of Scouting become more important with each new generation. each one of which faces a world changing so fast that only major issues can be considered. New problems overwhelm us, yet we must attempt to overcome them with sound thinking and action.

The training of our Boy Scouts—a few short years from manhood and adult responsibilities—is the kind of solid foundation the Nation and the world today must have. Sensible reasoning, concern for human beings, honesty and a determination to do what is right will preserve the future and our precious freedoms.

We support the principles of Scouting, and thank the organization for its outstanding record.

Salute to Boy Scouts of America

We in America owe much to the Boy Scouts. For the past 50 years the Boy Scout organization has built our men—men who have taken over the major responsibility of running our country, our industries and our communities.

Boy Scouts have always commanded respect. They have learned to live honestly and to care for their fellowman. The "good deeds" they learn as youngsters become second nature to them as mature men.

The very philosophy of Scouting molds our Nation's attitude. With this solid foundation and with every boy's desire to become a Scout we will continue to be the greatest Nation in the world.

JUSTICE CLARK FORMER SCOUT

Associate Justice Tom C. Clark of the United States Supreme Court attained Eagle Scout rank in 1914 as a member of a Dallas, Texas, troop.

He credits Scouting with his learning many things such as good citizenship, working together loyally, and the wonders of nature. "Dallas was then a comparatively small town," he explains, "and no civic function was complete without a parade and a program following in some public place. Our troop led about every parade. It was a wonderful way to learn the true meaning of good citizenship and responsibility to the community."

"Scouting taught me cooperation, the real meaning of 'togetherness' and engendered an interest in my community which as I grew older spread to an even greater interest in my state and my country."

The Boy Scouts of America received a federal charter from Congress in 1916.

BOY SCOUT WEEK--FEBRUARY 7 to 13

The nation's Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, Explorers and their adult leaders will observe the 50th Anniversary of the organization during Boy Scout Week, February 7 to 13. Since 1910 more than 30,000,000 Americans have been identified with Scouting.

This week more than 5,000,000 Scouts and their leaders are meeting in their respective meeting places to recite aloud the 12 tenets of the Scout law: "A Scout is trustworthy, loyal, helpful, friendly, courteous, kind, obedient, cheerful, thrifty, brave, clean and reverent."

The law distinguishes the movement from most other youth organizations, for scouting is solidly based on personal ethics.

Our sincere congratulations to all area Scouts and their leaders on the occasion of your Golden Anniversary.
